County Superintendents, In State Meet At Austin, Make Study On Revamping of Rural Educations

The State's county school superintendents met in Austin, May 12 and started working on a self-improvement project which is expected to revamp rural education in Texas

To help the project get started the right way, Governor Allan Shivers signed a proclamation designating May 12 as Texas County Superintendents' Day. The proclamation noted that school district reorganization over the years have created many problems which will have to be ironed out and hopes the workshop will help do that.

Dr. L. D. Haskew, dean of education at the University of Texas, stated that rural school officials must take a huge inventory before their system can grow much professionally.

That advice was offered by Dr. Haskew to over 100 county school superintendents who attended the meeting from various parts of the state to take part in the first annual workshop sponsored by the County Superintendent's association.

Other educators present had about the same advice to offer before the delegates secluded themselves in a number of work groups and tackled numerous problems which had been confronting them. R. E. Harris, County Superintendent of Caldwell County who heads the steering committee of the association, said that the new study in needed and needed now.

Harris words fell in line with the advice they got in their first talk Sunday night when they assembled in the Driskill Hotel. That advice came from Dr. J. W. Edgar, state commissioner of education, who told them frankly that they had finally faced up to the need for such a study

Generally, the superintendents and other rural school officials are trying to get an accurate picture of educational services on the county level as they now exist over the state. These services are administration, legal, transportation, and consultation responsibilities, as well as relationship to independent school districts and to other county school systems. Later—once the general foundation is laid—they'll start looking into what is needed in the various categories.

Actually this study was started several months ago and this aspect at least, will continue for several more months. Directing the study is Dale Howard, research director of the Superintendents and Supervisors' Association, and an aide to County School Superintendent, I. W. Popham. It was the first workshop of its type ever held in Texas, and will continue with additional sessions annually.

The project is being sponsored by the County Superintendents and Supervisors' Association. Right now Howard and others are conducting the study on a basis of 11 districts. Later the 11 will be divided into 3 regions for better over all view.

Midway and Van Dyke, two darkhorses in the Comanche City Softball League, share the City loop lead after the first week of play. Good crowds have been turning out, and the 1952 Softball League is off to a good start.

In the league opener's last Friday night, High School and Midway tangled in a thriller, which the Humble Oilmen from Midway won 3-2. Van Dyke showed power in dumping defending city champions, Beattie 14-3.

The Gulf Oilmen from Newburg were playing without the services of their regular catcher, Froggie Wilson, who is off to the Army for two weeks Reserve training.

In the nightcap, James Motor and Midway played even ball through five innings then the bottom fell out, as the Midway nine broke the deadlock and pushed across seven runs.

Appropriate dedication ceremonies were held at the Friday night season openers with County Superintendent Elzo Brinson and N. N. Durham making short talks.

Earl Burnett is president of the league this year. Double headers are scheduled each Tuesday and Friday nights in the regular league play. All star tilts are played on Thursday and Saturday nights.

Chamber Of Commerce Plans Community Clinic

By E. E. Jones, Manager, Comanche Chamber of Commerce

Before taking that long awaited vacation trip this summer, you'll get out the map and chart your course to get the maximum from your trip. You'll confer with Mom and the kids and get their ideas, because you want to please everyone in the family. Similarly, the officials of the Chamber of Commerce are planning to chart their program for the ensuing year to, as nearly as possible, please everyone, and bring about the maximum development and benefit for the community.

Believing that everyone is interested in our community—its present and future—the Chamber of Commerce is preparing to ask Mr. and Mrs. Citizen, "What do you want? What do you think our community needs that the Chamber of Commerce can help accomplish?" The answers received will be the basis for forming the "Program of Work" for the Chamber during the forthcoming year.

What is a "Program of Work"? It is a plan, a definite list of projects needed and wanted for a balanced program of community growth. The "Program of Work" is the chart or blueprint of proposed activities of the Chamber of Commerce for the progress and development of the entire community.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the local Chamber, it was agreed that this year's program should be based primarily upon the thinking and ideas of the entire citizenry of the town and surrounding territory. To best achieve this objective, the "Community Clinic" plan was adopted. The date for the "Community Clinic" has been set for July 10.

Vasco Lee, president of the local Chamber of Commerce reports, "We adopted the 'Community Clinic' plan because of its many advantages, among which are: it assures a constructive, balanced community program; it is thoroughly democratic because it is a means of allowing the people themselves to develop the program; it stimulates 'Chamber of Commerce' interest; it discovers new and interested workers in the community; it sets the stage for community teamwork; and it discovers the wants and needs of the citizens for their community."

"The mechanics of the 'clinic,'" President Lee continued, "constitute holding a series of meetings on July 10 which all citizens of Comanche and territory are invited to attend and to express and discuss, in round-table fashion, their ideas relative to community development. We want everyone to think seriously about this matter and be prepared to answer our questions: What do you want? What do you think our community needs that the Chamber of Commerce can help accomplish? Groups with common interests will be invited to attend meetings at a specified time, but everyone is urged to attend the meeting that is most convenient for them. Meetings will be held for farmers and ranchers, retailers, ladies, professional men, and others."

"Your ideas and attendance at group meetings are paramount to the success of this project," Lee said. "That idea that you have had in the back of your mind for years may be the very one that the community has needed for years. It may be exactly what a group of people has been wanting to do for several years. We want to do what you want us to do! Everyone, and this means members and non-members alike, is cordially invited and urged to participate in this endeavor and help us develop and plan for building a bigger and better community."

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce will provide members of their staff to assist the local Chamber in this project.

Jefferson believed in local self government and judging a man on his individual worth. He was the proudest of being the author of the "Virginia Articles for Religious Freedom" and was

Western Auto Dealers Getting Christmas Preview

Mrs. Faye Belle Evans, Western Auto Associate Store owner here is getting her first Christmas preview today of the nation's newest ideas in toys, sporting goods, and other fall and winter merchandise. She is attending a Western Auto Supply Company merchandise show at Dallas, Texas.

It is from this preview of more than 900 Christmas-selling items that Mrs. Evans said she would make her selections to fit the particular needs and desires of this trade area. Besides toys and sporting goods, the show is featuring wheel goods, bicycles, guns and gift merchandise.

Mrs. Evans said that more than 500 carefully-selected toys and wheel goods items alone will be displayed at the show. Among them will be new rocket planes, space cadet guns, loop-the-loops, and circus, rodeo and farm sets. For little girls the Gibson Girl doll will be featured . . . as well as a complete line of new-process plastic-head dolls, outstanding for realism. Tallulah the Talk Lamb is the new "Star" in the pull-toy line.

New wheel goods numbers include a new toy auto, the Kidallac, a lightweight English-model bicycle for boys and girls; and many others.

Careful attention also was devoted by Western Auto to assembling diversified makes and models of nationally-known rifles and shotguns for the hunter and target shooter . . . as well as galaxy of other Christmas merchandise, including electric roasting ovens, electric blankets, silverware, steak knives and carving sets, baseball and other sporting equipment and photographic supplies.

Mrs. Evans, who has been a Western Auto Associate Store owner here for 16 years, is one of 164 dealers in two states who will attend the show in Dallas. There are 2,650 Western Auto Associate Store owners in 35 states supplied merchandise by 16 Western Auto Wholesale Houses.

What?
Has Farm Bureau Done For Local Farmers and Ranchers

Is It Worth $8 A Year Membership Dues ?

TRACTOR OPERATORS:

Did you know that for the past 12 years some bird or another has jumped up in the State Legislature and tried to get a law passed taking away the farmer's tractor gas tax refund. FARM BUREAU has led the fight that has saved this refund to you. The 1950 census showed 1,593 tractors in Comanche County. At the conservative figure of an average $40 yearly rebate this saved Comanche County farmers some $63,720 per year. Your $40.00 saved will pay your dues and leave $32 profit.

CATTLEMEN:

Last year OPS set up two price rollbacks on beef. FARM BUREAU presidents from every state went to Washington as representatives of 1,500,000 farm families and got those rollbacks knocked out. This saved Comanche County stockmen 5c a pound minimum. Comanche County stockmen sell about 18,688 cows and calves yearly (1950 census). Averaging 600 pounds per head at 5c per pound, this saved farmers and stockmen of the county over one-half million dollars last year. If you sold just one 400 pound calf in 1951 your saving would pay two years dues and leave $4 profit.

PEANUT FARMERS:

By its fight to hold peanuts as a basic commodity in 1949, FARM BUREAU saved peanut producers a minimum of $72 a ton. If you had 20 acres of peanuts in 1950 and averaged 25 bushels per acre, that would be 500 bushels, of about seven and a half tons. At $72 per ton, FARM BUREAU saved you $540 on peanuts in 1950 alone and saved Comanche County peanut growers $1,673,856 in 1950 alone. Is it worth $8.00 annual dues to have that kind of help with your problem? Then, with reduced acres because of the oil-stock competition, it became evident that oil-stock peanut acreages were detrimental to producers. So, what happened? Comanche County and Eastland County FARM BUREAUS got together and drew up a peanut resolution that was adopted by TEXAS FARM BUREAU last November and adopted by AMERICAN FARM BUREAU FEDERATION in December. It is now a part of the 1952 farm program on peanuts.

EVERYBODY:

Whatever your farming interests may be, your FARM BUREAU is in Washington, in Austin and in Comanche County to help you in your business. We can help you, and you can help up to help yourself by adding your strength to ours.

Can you afford not to belong?

Your Comanche County FARM BUREAU
"It Doesn't Cost to Belong to FARM BUREAU... IT PAYS"

A play, in which the Quadrennial Goals for the Society, was presented. Mesdames O. B. Phillips, Pat Tupin, George Walker, Merlin Jenkins and Foster gave the parts in a very interesting way.

Mrs. L. R. Williams dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Next Monday, June 9, will be a business meeting, with a social hour to follow. Remember the hour has been changed to 4:00 o'clock. A hearty welcome awaits you.

32 Complete Leather Craft Course Here

By Mrs. D. R. Martin

If you counted them, you'd discover that 32 persons pounded out a project in leather this past week. Choose the right tool and pound away said Mrs. Martin. Leather articles were available in every variety—ladies and men's billfolds, ladies and men's belts, zipper bags for ladies and large envelope bags. We enjoyed having each and everyone and hope to see everyone interested again June 9th for etching or tooling aluminum trays.

Anything should be fun to make when you know it is going to be useful.

Monday, June 9, at 8:30 we would like to see a large group of young people and adults to start tooling or etching an aluminum tray. Come along with pencil in hand and if you would like a favorite design cut from any magazine or embroidery pattern.

The Homemaking Department has a few trays on hand so get to class on time and you will have a choice of a tray. This class will be held Monday June 9, and Thursday June 12, and Friday June 13. Special arrangements can be made while teachers are away at camp, and for individual help.

Look around in your home and see if you wouldn't like to give a chair a new "dress". If you would, join our group June 16th in a slip cover and upholstery course. Registration will begin at 8:30 and a lecture given. The 17th will be an all day meeting with Mrs. Tait Moring from Stephenville giving the latest techniques in upholstery and slip covering. She is a very capable person and has done excellent work in near by towns.

Place this date on your calendar and join the fun. The Cottage will be open the entire week and we will be happy to assist you with your problems.

Royal Ambassadors Hold Meeting

By R.A. Reporter

The Royal Ambassadors of the First Baptist Church of Comanche met Monday afternoon for their regular meeting with 14 present. The program consisted of missionary story telling, followed by the election of officers. These new officers will take charge at the first meeting in July.

Most of the R.A. boys are getting ready for the encampment which begins June 16 at Lake Brownwood.

The R.A.s. are proud of their Little League Baseball team, coached by Jack Wheat, which is showing very good progress. If you want to see a group of boys who are real little sports and some good classy baseball playing be sure and watch them play in some of their games.

The Royal Ambassadors is a boys' organization sponsored by the W.M.U. of the First Baptist Church. One of the purposes of the organization is missionary education among the boys. They study God's word from the missionary viewpoint in order that His Kingdom plans may be known and the principles of life of each individual in relation to God may be understood.

In short, the purpose is one of developing boys in missionary knowledge, prayer, stewardship, and service.
